

Geraldo Marcos de Moraes

Veterinary Doctor (1988) and Master in Epidemiology (1993), graduated from the Veterinary School of the Federal University of Minas Gerais (UFMG), Brazil. He completed his PhD in Animal Health at the Faculty of Agronomy and Veterinary Medicine of the University of Brasilia (UnB), Brazil, in July 2018. He has experience in the area of animal health defense since 1989, serving as an veterinarian official of the State Agency for Animal and Plant Health Defense (IAGRO) in the province of Mato Grosso do Sul, Brazil. Since 2002, he joined the Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Food (MAPA), where he is currently the Director of the Department of Animal Health (DSA). His main experiences include the management of the PNEFA - National Program for the Prevention and Eradication of Foot and Mouth Disease, management of foot and mouth disease emergency events in Brazil, application of surveillance strategies and procedures for status recognition for animal disease-free zones, planning and coordination of epidemiological studies, development and management of animal health information systems and use of geographic information system in animal health.